Service to Careers Alignment to Employability Skills

Youth who participate in Service Learning projects in this pilot will have the opportunity to develop workforce skills in a number of ways. This youth voice based project creates an organic connection to careers while fostering leadership and communication experience. Youth will brainstorm and implement projects that benefit a community chosen by the youth. They will have an opportunity to share project descriptions with Workforce and other Career experienced partners who will consult on further outreach to those business and industry members that can inform specific projects. Youth will have the opportunity to develop skills in all of the following categories:

- | | |
|--------------------|----------------------------|
| 1) Adaptability | 6) Empathy |
| 2) Analysis | 7) Entrepreneurial Mindset |
| 3) Collaboration | 8) Resilience |
| 4) Communication | 9) Self-Awareness |
| 5) Digital Fluency | 10) Social Diversity |

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ's)

- What kind of materials and support is provided for cohort participants?

In-person training on a quarterly basis will be provided to participating programs, along with a curriculum outlining ten weeks of steps toward implementing service learning projects. Weekly call times will be available for any program who needs support, as well as continuous access to coach trainers.

- Why are we connecting Service Learning with Workforce?

We know that there are some essential skills that nearly all employers are looking for in future employees, most of which have nothing to do with the specific knowledge of their business but more about 21st century employability skills. We believe that the structure of service learning allows youth to fully engage with their community while building skills that many do not otherwise have the opportunity to learn or strengthen with positive guidance.

- Do I need to be knowledgeable in service learning or have industry partners before starting this program?

No! There is no previous knowledge necessary, facilitators of Service Learning Clubs will have in-person training, coaching opportunities, and access to OregonASK trainers and easy to use materials to support them throughout the project!

- Is this a STEM specific program?

This is not a STEM specific program in that it is most important for youth to find a project that best fits their interest. However, since we know that nearly every job or workplace has components of STEM incorporated, the curriculum is created to help guide youth in discovering how STEM is a part of the careers they explore.

- How do I target and engage underserved youth?

This project is one part of the work we are doing to better understand how best to serve and engaging youth in Oregon. See more about our findings and recommendations HERE.
